FOR WEST LIBERTY

Opportunity will come to some property owners in West Liberty to be of service to the town. The water system and the sewer system which are now being surveyed will require easements over many business and resident lots. Surveyors have been instructed to locate lines and equipment plots in such a way as not to damage property but otherwise to place locations to best advantage to the system.

Every member of the town board is giving a considerable time and study to make the town a better place in which to live, and doing it without a cent of cost to the town. Many other citizens will have an opportunity to help. Every citizen of the town will be benefited in at least four ways, viz: (1) Sanitary living conditions, (2) An ample supply of approved water for all purposes, (3) A very much improved protection against fire and (4) Cheaper insurance rates. These things are worth while and each of us can do our part in bringing these conditions about.

Back From Florida

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Reed returned Sunday from Florida where they had been on a sight seeing trip. They brought back a souvenir a piece of the cable over which the news was brought to the United States of the sinking of the battleship Maine which was the direct cause of the Spanish American War. They also brought back a liberal sample of the product of the largest raw sugar mill in the United States. The Editor of the Courier was remembered with a sample of this sugar which makes excellent syrup. This sugar is sent to Port Westworth, Savannah, Georgia, where it is refined by domestic labor under government sanitation regulations. Mr. and Mrs. Reed enjoyed their trip very much. They have had a long and busy life and they surely had this coming to them.

FROM OHIO FRIEND

Man has made wonderful progress since he was placed in the Garden by his Omnipotent Maker, but human nature has not changed much since Cain slew Abel and said "Am I my brother's keeper?" It has been said that ingratitude is the foulest weed that grows in the garden of the soul. It has a sting sharper than a serpent's tooth and sometimes it is more fatal.

Tunon of Athens was a rich man. The number of those he had rewarded was legion but when it was noise of the road that his fortune had hit the rocks, his friends deserted him like rats that leave the sinking ship. "Ten were healed," said the Savior, "but where are the other nine?" That question has come down through the ages as a rebuke to the ingratitude of man.

Some of our old patriots learned its meaning too well. George Rogers Clark who waded the swamps of Illinois and won the "North West territory" knew the meaning of ingratitude when he lay upon his poverty stricken couch and said, "Go tell Virginia when she needed a sword, I found one, now I want bread."

Robert Morris who furnished means to buy food and raiment for the army of liberty knew the meaning of ingratitude when he sat forgotten and forlorn behind the gloomy walls of a debtor's prison.

Daniel Boone who cut the path to the "Dark and bloody ground" knew the meaning of ingratitude when he looked back in his old days to a land that he had given all the best years of his brave and heroic life for, besides two sons and a brother's blood and said that he had no spot that he could call his own whereupon to lay his bones.

Parents have been known to give up the last farthing to their children only to be turned out in their declining years like a blind horse to feed upon the commons.

"O, ingratitude! Thou marble hearted fiend, more heinous than thou showest thee in the child than a sea monster."

"This tent is mine" said Yuseoff. But no more than it is God's, come in and be at peace. Freely shalt thou partake of all my store as I of His who buildeth over these.

P. M. BENTON, Batavia, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tredway and Mrs. Lee Bayes made a business trip to Lexington Friday and while there visited Robert Patrick, who is in the Veteran hospital and getting along nicely.

MORGAN MAN BEAT UP

Carl Henry, aged about 25 and formerly of Liberty Road, was found weak from loss of blood and in a bewildered state by two boys who were also out late on Saturday night of last week at Ashland.

The two boys were attracted by Henry's call for help from a junk yard of automobile tops. They carried him to a police station and from there he was sent to the King's Daughters hospital.

Henry had a deep gash in the back of his head and his face and head were covered with dried and fresh blood. He told police that a hobo had beat him up.

Reports from the hospital on Sunday morning gave his condition as fairly good. The name of the "hobo" who beat him up has not been revealed.

WAR

O, Lord, look with pity on war's desolation.

Its death and destruction on land and on sea.

May it please Thee to keep and preserve us a nation

To for ever be known as the land of the free.

Let us never descend to old Europe's stagnation.

With Nazi and communist holding the sway;

Denying, denouncing our Christian Salvation,

The hope and the helm of our country today.

Please soften the hearts of men of high station,

Who slaughter our youths for their greed and their gain.

With pillage and murder they find an elation

In causing the innocent sorrow and pain.

Let us humble our hearts in profound meditation

And send this petition from near and from far,

What e'er our position, our race or relation,

What ever our station—Lord Keep Us From War. J. M. Gevedon

FARMER'S MEETING

There will be a meeting of farmers of Morgan County interested in sheep farming at 10:00 a.m. Monday, February 28th.

The following subjects will be discussed:

1. Proper use of Soil Conservation by Yandal Wraether.

2. 9 years of sheep experience in Morgan County by J. A. Oldfield.

3. Sheep, by R. C. Miller, Sheep Specialist, University of Kentucky.

Judge C. P. Henry had business in Frankfort the last week. Mr. and Mrs. Hager Henry and son, Earl Major and Mr. Henry's mother, Mrs. Margaret Henry returned with the Judge for the week end here.

Every farm should as nearly as possible grow everything the family needs for its table.

OPERETTA A SUCCESS

One of the highlights of the season's entertainment was the operetta given Thursday night, February 17, by a group of high school students under the sponsorship of Miss Lena McClure and Major Gardner.

The operetta was exceptionally good but perhaps the opening scene was most effective of all. The pirate's red costumes made a striking combination with the green pines, the water and rocky shores.

Some differences of opinion were given as to the most realistic scene. One opinion was that the mournful song of Ruth, the piratical nurse, played by Miriam Byrd, was the most realistic, while some think the farewell scene with Frederick and Mabel, portrayed by Roy Fugitt and Delphia McClure, was very realistic. Especially good criticism was given to Ted DeLong for his excellent bass voice, to the group for their fine singing together, and to Miss Nell F. Taulbee, accompanist at the piano.

This splendid portrayal of light musical drama showed every indication of having been well directed.

As this was practically the first program of this kind ever to be presented in West Liberty, many people attended merely out of curiosity but left feeling that they had seen and heard something worthwhile. It is the common feeling that this will open up the way for West Liberty's appreciation of better music in the future.

PUBLISHING FINANCIAL STATEMENT

A bill has been introduced in the General Assembly at Frankfort to repeal the law providing for publication by counties, cities and school boards of a detailed report of their expenditures. The Kentucky Press Association quite naturally passed a resolution opposing the repeal, but the law is more useful and beneficial to the taxpayers than to the newspapers which receive money for publishing the statements.

It provides that every item of expenditure shall be listed, with its date, amount and the person, firm or corporation with whom spent. It is the taxpayer's right to know where his money goes, and in the instance of dishonest or extravagant officials it is his protection. Except for this law, the taxpayers would not have this knowledge, and they certainly are entitled to it.

The presence of this law acts as a deterrent to dishonesty and extravagance, and thereby saves the public many times the cost of publication. A majority of officials are upright and conscientious, just as a majority of private citizens are, but criminal laws are passed for the protection of society from those who are not. Likewise, the statement publication law is a protection to the public from officials, who otherwise might be wasteful or worse with the money entrusted to them for expenditure.—Elizabethtown News.

GOVERNMENT SELLS TIMBER

The first large timber sale on Cumberland National Forest is now in full swing. More than five million board feet of timber in Laurel County have been sold to the Laurel Stave and Lumber Company, a London concern.

Two sawmills, each with a daily capacity of 5,000 board feet are now in operation on the area. It is expected that about 3½ million feet of lumber, staves and veneer bolts will be removed during the present year and the remainder of the 5 million feet will be taken out next year.

The timber is being cut under the close supervision of a trained forester whose job it is to mark each tree which is to be cut. All logs are scaled and stamped "U. S." before released to the purchaser. The cutting is being done in accordance with a plan of management which will allow timber in the area to be cut perpetually, thus providing continual employment for a number of workers and a constant source of revenue to the government and state.

The Laurel Stave and Lumber Company, under the terms of the sale agreement with the U. S. Forest Service, is removing the timber in such a way as to leave low stumps and small tops in the woods, and thereby eliminate waste. Trees are felled and skidded in such a way so as to do the least possible damage to young growth and to trees being left on the area for a second crop—only mature and defective trees are removed.

The money received from the sale is paid into the treasury of the United States. A Federal law provides that 25 percent of this money will be returned to the State of Kentucky to be distributed among the counties within the National Forest, according to the amount of land owned by the Government, for the use in the building of roads and schools. 10 percent more of this money will be returned to Cumberland National Forest for road construction.—U. S. Forest Service.

Licking Valley Courier, West Liberty, Kentucky.

Mr. Editor:

Enclosed find my check for $1.50 for renewal to your valuable paper. I just can't do without the Courier. It tells me of so many people I once knew. I was born at White Oak, in 1868 went to school with your fellow townsmen, L. B. Reed and James M. Reed, Sam L. Reed of Caney. Our teachers were J. M. Oney, and W. B. Allen in a one room school house with chimney. We burned wood that the students and teachers got off the mountains at recess. Most of our seats were made of poplar logs split four legs attached by boring holes and attaching legs. They had no backs. Success to the Courier.

FARMERS' COLUMN

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Snuff types predominated at a dark tobacco show held at Mayfield, W. Va. Turpin of Callaway won the grand championship on a sample of heavy snuff leaf. Eighty-nine samples were exhibited in the largest show in recent years.

W. V. Taylor of Hickory, Graves County, averaged $188.55 an acre from three and a third acres of dark fire-cured tobacco handled by the soft-cure method. Yields were 1,370 pounds to the acre.

Increased livestock, especially sheep, and better tobacco comprise the principal planks in the Owensley County program for this year. Western ewes will be purchased and certified No. 16 tobacco grown.

The McClean County Farm Bureau purchased an apartment house containing eight three-room apartments. The building will be remodeled into offices, a community hall and a model kitchen for the County homemaker's clubs.

A McCracken County planning committee, representing various farm interests, recently reviewed the program adopted two years ago, and voted to continue efforts to replace 10 percent of the cultivated land with soil conserving crops and the most eroded land with trees.

With only one cow producing less than 300 pounds, Paul Uterback's herd of 21 Jerseys in Montgomery County averaged 380 pounds of butterfat in a testing year recently finished. The county program includes the keeping of herd records, feeding schools, a county dairy day and a breeder ring.

GRASSES FOR SOIL LAND

If the soil is too sour to grow red clover, then sow lespedeza, sweet clover, alsike clover or grass. This is what J. L. Miller, agricultural agent in Madison County, is telling farmers. Likewise, these seeds are cheaper than alfalfa and red clover. Care in obtaining adapted seed, or seed produced close to home, is suggested to farmers who have good soil and who plan to sow red clover. Mr. Miller is a firm believer in alfalfa and red clover and wants his farmers to have these crops when their land is in condition to grow them and when seed prices are more favorable.

PLAN FARM CLEAN-UPS

Early spring has been designated as farmstead clean-up season among the 15,000 members of homemaker's clubs in 48 Kentucky counties. Some of the things to be done, as listed by N. R. Elliott, landscape specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture, include:

Removal of old buildings no longer useful and already falling down, saving the useful lumber.

Removal of dead and unsightly trees. Sometimes the stumps are left as places for flower boxes, and sometimes branch stubs are left and the trumpet vine or Virginia creeper planted at the base of the old tree.

Dismantling of worn-out machinery, selling the iron as junk and burning of wooden parts.

Usable machinery put in tobacco barns or other buildings, if possible, or out of sight behind buildings.

Lots and corrals for livestock cleaned of old fencing and other trash.

Old fences, especially in the front yard, repaired or replaced and discarded parts removed.

Gates repaired or replaced and supporting posts straightened. Sagging, dragging gates give a poor impression.

Wood for stove or fireplace carefully piled, and coal placed inside.

In most cases it will not be necessary to spend money, says Mr. Elliott. Members of the family working together, with the use of a team and wagon, can remove a lot of trash and rubbish in a day or two.

EROSION FOLLOWS OVERGRAZING

Too much livestock on a farm may result in soil erosion, following overgrazing, points out James Donehue, a Pendleton County farmer. Likewise, cash income per animal may be reduced because of overgrazed pasture and the net profit be less than could be obtained from fewer animals better fed. Mr. Donehue is planning a long-time pasture program, including a rotation of grazing, semi-annual mowing and regulation of livestock numbers.

D. T. Matlack, Representative of Clark county, introduced a bill in the Legislature last week to create the 39th Judicial District from the counties of Powell, Estill, and Lee. The same day Senator Ervine Turner, of Jackson introduced a like measure in the Senate. Such a measure would be a waste of money and would be against the wishes of every voter in Powell county so far as we have heard, and is unconstitutional too.—Clay City Times.

Will Kentucky Legionaries endorse the resolution adopted recently by the Paducah post calling upon the Department of Kentucky at its 1938 annual convention to support a proposed extension of pension legislation to include all veterans of the World War, their widows and orphans? An attempt to create sentiment in favor of a general pension is in conflict with our pledge that such legislation would not be sought in the event Adjusted Service Certificates were paid off. It is to say the least an unpatriotic move. It might easily be termed plundering of the United States treasury.—Kentucky Legionaire.

One of the supposedly humorous moments in a current movie occurs when a particularly priggish character refuses a drink, then a cigarette, and is finally asked: "You do eat, don't you?" Superficially, the incident is amusing. But why is the person who refuses liquor portrayed so often in an unfavorable light? And on the other hand, why is it assumed that excessive drinking is the normal rule in American life? Certainly this is the impression given in many Hollywood films. Odd as it may seem to the film executives on the West coast the man or woman who turns down a drink is not necessarily an idiot, a coward, a prig, or an object of loathing.—Morehead Independent.

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

Man in his natural state does not wish to admit that he is a fallen creature, but in his actions he has to admit that the race died in Adam. We hear a great deal of talk about disarmament. They tell us that if we will fight. We will have war. If we have to disarm to keep from fighting, that is all the proof we need that the nations of this earth are composed of men and women who belong to a fallen race. A Christian man will have no greater temptation to fire a cannon than he would a small pistol. If nations were Christian and the citizens were not naturally depraved, then you could put a soldier every eighteen inches around any government in the world and he would have no temptation to shoot people. Men are naturally sinners. Some are thieves, some are adulterers, some are murderers, and David said in his haste, "All men are liars." Some wag said, "He didn't have to be in a hurry to say it. He could take his time and it still would have been true." All sins are simply branches which grow on the tree of fallen nature. The only hope for man is a new birth. "Except we are born again we cannot see the kingdom of God." Unregenerated men have no spiritual apprehension. They think in terms of self—self-preservation, selfish interests, and selfish pleasures.

The old preachers used to talk a great deal about total depravity. Men say they do not believe in total depravity. All orthodox people believe in total depravity whether they realize it or not. When we say a man is totally depraved we do not mean that that man under our present civilization commits every kind of sin. We simply mean that man born in this world is minus God. There is no divinity in him. Any sin ever committed by any man could under the proper provocation and temptation be committed by any other unregenerated man. "Why did I do so and so?" I have heard men behind prison bars say. Women from fine families in my evangelistic meetings have sobbed out their hearts in inquiry rooms and said, "How could I commit such sins?" We forget that the greatest sin that man can commit is the sin of not loving God. When man is born again he becomes a child of God and has an affinity for his Father. He loves God. He may look up into the sky and think of judgment day when he has to face divine justice. But a Christian can look up into the face of a just God and call Him "Father". Remember, man in his unregenerated state is not a child of God. He is a child of the devil. We become children of God by the power of a new birth. The Bible nowhere calls any man God's child unless the man has been born again.

AID SOCIETY MEETING

The Ladies Aid Society of Cannel City Union church met with Mrs. Asa Carter February 17. Members present were, Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. J. W. Benton, Mrs. Asa Carter, Mrs. Dorsey Peyton, Mrs. Lee Peyton, Mrs. M. H. Ferguson, Mrs. Inez Donovan, Mrs. Press Sebastian, Mrs. Mike Benton, Mrs. Clyde Wells, Mrs. Dennis Patrick, Miss Sallie Minor, Misses, Ailene Zornes, Bertha Lacy, Wilma Faulkner, Emily Spencer, Gertrude Stacy, Gladys Benton. The last two joined at this meeting. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Stamper took charge of the meeting. The first hymn sang was "Blessed Assurance." The next hymn was "The Way of the Cross Leads Home" and then Mrs. Carter read as the devotional Psalm VIII. Miss Minor led in prayer. After reading of the minutes and the roll call, and taking in the new members Mrs. Carter brought in the new quilt that she and Mrs. Lee Peyton had finished setting up since our last meeting, and they had a guessing contest as to why they had finished it before this meeting. Mrs. M. H. Ferguson gave the best answer and won the prize. Work was then began on Mrs. Wells' quilt as all the pieces for the squares had been cut by Mrs. Donovan and everything ready; 50 squares were made at this meeting. During the social hour the hostess assisted by Misses Zornes, Faulkner, and Lacy served delicious pineapple pudding and coffee. After a very pleasant afternoon we adjourned to meet with Mrs. Mike Benton March 3. S. E. MINOR, Secretary

MORGAN COUNTY SCHOOL PAGE

(Under Auspices of Ova O. Haney, County Supt.)

THE WELLS SCHOOL BILL

House Bill No. 204 was introduced in the House of Representatives a few weeks ago. This bill provided for a 30c real estate tax for school purposes. The aim and objective of this bill was to provide equal educational opportunities or to at least set up minimum standards in poor counties. In Morgan County where the maximum tax rate is levied, Morgan County would have paid a 45c local tax and a 30c state tax. The school program in Morgan County would have received about $30,000.00 without any increased taxes on the people of Morgan County. Eighty counties in the State of Kentucky would have derived benefits from this bill without any increased taxation. This bill naturally placed the burden on the wealthier communities. We notice that the papers in the wealthier communities and the people were bitterly opposed to this bill. It was defeated in the House 43 to 48. This bill needed some amendments to it which would have lessened the burden on some of the wealthier districts. At least the proposed amendments would have made it possible for the wealthier communities to increase their assessments and avoid retrenching the present school program. I personally think that the bill had merits and that such a bill ought to be passed at the next legislature. The City of Louisville taxes fourth street and uses the money to educate the children out in the tenement districts. Someone coined this phrase: "Tax the profits of wealth where they are to educate the children where they are." It is not fair for the school children of one county to have a seven months term while in another county to have a ten months term and there is something wrong with the school system in a state where in one place they provide modern school buildings and plenty of library books and other instructional equipment and in another to have none. Something is wrong with a school program when a teacher from Morgan County goes to college and pays the same fee, meets the same requirements and comes back to Morgan County and teaches for $100 per week counting 32 weeks per year and at the same time another teacher who completed the same course, met the same requirements and goes back to Lexington and teaches for $1200. to $1400.00 a year. We urge that all of the teachers and the wide awake alert citizens in these poor rural areas mold public opinion favorable to the passage of a tax bill that will provide at least minimum standards in all of the poor counties of Kentucky. If this bill had been enacted and become a law, this year every teacher in Morgan County would have received at least $100. more on the year and eight months school term would have been provided without any increased taxation.

Health Unit

I was discussing the possibility of obtaining a health unit with a member of the state health board. He presented a map which showed that Morgan County was just one of the few counties in the State that did not have a health unit in operation. Morgan County will have to put up only twenty percent of the total cost of the unit. The total cost will amount to about $5,000.00 with one doctor and two nurses. All over the county last year the people in the various districts were begging for medical aid especially when some communicable disease broke out. The immunization is free to all school children and indigent people. Any patron with two to three children would more than likely save from $5. to $10. a year because of this free immunization service. We don't know when typhoid or small pox is going to break out. There is a constant danger of venereal diseases in some of our schools. This would give free medical service to the teachers in obtaining physical examination certificates. We hope that those who are interested in having a health unit in Morgan County will use their influence to this end. I certainly think it is a progressive forward step which will offer more medical aid to our school system. OVA O. HANEY, Superintendent, Morgan County Schools.

Devotional—Mary Louise Elam and Marita Ann Traynor.

Song—Mary Louise Elam.

Piano Solo—"Beethoven's Farewell to the Piano"—Betty Jo Whitt.

Operetta, "Cinderella"—The Third Grade.

This dramatization of the story of Cinderella was composed by the third grade pupils. The songs were made to the tunes of songs they had previously learned. The fairy coach was made by four third grade boys. The horses heads were drawn by Homer Rose Jr. Although the children had worked steadily during activity periods, planning the operetta, very little time was spent in practice.

Songs From "Cinderella"

Messengers Song—

Make way for the prince! Make way for the prince!

The prince is a lonely man. We hope that today the prince will find the princess who'll give him her hand.

Tra la, la la la, tra, la la la la The prince is a lonely man.

Tra, la la la la, Tra, la la la la Is the princess in the land?

—Frances Ann Stacy

Song of the Footmen—

We are fairy footmen, for we were made from mice . . .

(Coachman) I'm the coachman from a rat . . .

Now don't you think that's nice? Cinderella to the ball will ride in pumpkin style . . .

The prince will want to take her home

And everyone will smile.

—Frances Ann Stacy

Fairy Godmother Song—

Cinderella, tend the fire, Rags are now your best attire

But the prince will come to find The maid who is so good and kind.

Cinderella silk and lace, You will wear and dance with grace

When midnight strikes you must run—

Or else your rags will sure return.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Last week we reviewed the Frenchburg and Royalton teams.

This week we shall deal with Salsersville and Crockett prospects.

Salsersville has a fast rangy team that has had a better than average season. All the players are good ball handlers and good shots. Prater and Gilliam have played three years.

Ramey has played before this year at Millersburg Military Institute.

who had one of the best teams in the state last year. The Patrick boys are smaller than the other three but of the fast ball dogging type of players.

Coach Arnett usually has Gilliam around the basket with the Patrick boys playing the sides and crisscrossing to the center for shots around the foul line. Prater and Ramey are the guards and feed the ball and break. At times the men play a pass and cut system with no definite set positions. They play a fast break offense at times and can also play the long shot follow-up game. Their defense is man to man which sometimes retreats back under the goal and at other times checks men all over the floor. It is hard to plan for such a team. When they are clicking they are hard to beat.

Crockett is an unknown quality as they have only played one team in the district this year, having defeated Cannel City last fall. They had some of the best material I have seen this year, and had they played a full schedule would have been hard for any team in this district to handle. They have Hutchinson, a forward, and Ison, a center, in particular that would be welcome on any coach's squad. Their lack of playing will probably be a handicap against Salsersville but any team from Crockett always puts up a scrap. It is a break for some of the other teams in the tournament that Crockett is isolated and could not play a regular schedule and have regular practice. Next week we shall have West Liberty and Cannel City.

What's New in Radio?

By J. F. Witkowski

TWO-WAY, short wave radios installed in police department automobiles, and a portable, two-way station set up on the roof of a building at Fifth Street and Fifth Avenue, proved valuable aids to the New York police in handling the enormous crowd, estimated at 3,000,000 persons, that gathered to view the recent American Legion parade. Radio communication enabled police officials to shift their men from point to point along the route of the parade, with a minimum of delay and confusion.

Miles of pipe line laid down in Oklahoma and Texas during the oil boom days, and long since forgotten, are being unearthed and sold for salvage with the aid of a radio detector which reveals the location of the lost lines. The detector makes it possible to follow the route of any pipe with a diameter of one-eighth inch or larger, even though it runs through a maze of other lines.

An armored, radio-controlled motor boat, recently completed for the British air force, provides a fast-moving, elusive target for bombing and machine gun practice. The British Royal Corps of Signals has recently tested, with satisfactory results, a field radio transmitting and receiving set that operates while strapped to a soldier's back.

SAINT RUSSELL BARLOW

In the middle ages nearly every activity had its special saint. There was a saint of hospitality—St. Julian—and there were saints for every kind of learning—St. Catherine for grown-ups and St. Nicholas for children, whence Santa Claus. And there were saints for travel, and certain farm activities, and so on and on. But there was no saint so far as I know, for idlers. I wish to propose the name of Saint Russell Barlow for this position in the canon of saints.

I do not know when or where he lived; he probably had a mysterious life. Anyway, he derived a knife, handy and cheap. Apparently he wanted to confer some benefit upon his fellow-men and thus devised an instrument that was effective but not fancy, capable of infinite use in whittling.

A Russell Barlow knife can be used for all sorts of things. On the farm it is in constant use, for everything needs mending at some time. A Barlow knife can open cans or pare nails or cut leather or wood. It is the most useful instrument one could own. But it is not the practical uses of the knife that one thinks of when he hears the name of Russell Barlow. The special province of the knife is whittling. The knife does its best work there. Just what whittlers ever made with their knives I have never known. It would be sacrilegious to ask them what purpose they have in reducing packing boxes to shavings. Whittling, like painting, is an end in itself, art for art's sake.

Skill as such is not required. Probably the good saint made the knife to give the loafers something to do while they listened for the fifteenth time to some remarkable yarn about the Civil War or about pioneer days.

To require any evidence of one's skill in whittling would be unkind to the men who have earned a few hours of leisure and wish to use it in artistic efforts.

I have been trying to think of a suitable memorial to the saint of whittlers. A bas-relief showing the devotees at their worship at the loafer's joint would be appropriate, if any one could be found who could carve so skillfully. Maybe a goods-bbox should be used for the pedestal on which to erect a statue of some sort. A pile of miscellaneous shavings might be worked in artistically. But no monument in wood or marble or bronze would do the saint justice.

A memorial of real value would include a speaking part, the drawl of the yarn-spinner, and would be flavored with the odor of tobacco. No materials can be discovered that would show all of this. I suppose that I will have to leave the type of memorial to some more fertile brain; it is enough of me to propose the canonization of this long neglected saint—Kentucky Folklore Series.

JUNIOR FRENCH CLUB

The Junior French Club met on Friday, February 18. The club sang a number of French songs and learned a new one called "Polichinelle."

The NYA is giving a show at Cannel City, Thursday, February 24, at 2 p.m. showing youth in work.

The same show will be given at West Liberty High School, Thursday evening, February 24th at 6:40 p.m. This is a special show which has been arranged by the administration and is being given throughout the district. The public is invited to attend and the admission is free.

Money, Latin; Cash, French

The word money comes from the Latin, moneta, which originally meant "a mint," because the temple of Juno Moneta, in Rome, was the place where money was coined.

Cash, on the other hand, is of French origin, derived from the word caisse—a box.—Pearson's London Weekly.
